

OUR FUNDERS

The work of Edinburgh Food Social would not be possible without the support of our funders- this year, more than any other, their money has gone towards supporting and feeding thousands of people across the city.

A special thanks goes to Sam and the entire team at Baillie Gifford whose patience, thoughtfulness and ultimate generosity allowed us the freedom to do what we thought was right. Not only did the team support us financially at a time where everything was incredibly frantic but also on a practical level by printing tens of thousands of labels - something that was an invaluable part of our operation.

Additionally, thank you to The National Lottery Awards for All. At a time of great pressure, the team were absolutely fantastic and have been friendly, efficient and supportive throughout. We are so glad of this relationship and hope it continues to grow and strengthen over the coming years.

Thank you, not only to The Scottish Government for their funding towards our work through Food for Good, but also to City of Edinburgh Council, EVOC, Corra and The Hunter Foundation for administering and coordinating the grants and supporting this necessary humanitarian food response.

Our thanks to the individuals that have helped us Crowdfund two projects this year; Food for Good and our Community Christmas- our work is possible because of your kindness and generosity.

Thanks also go to:
The University of Edinburgh; The Bakers Trust;
The Soil Association; The Pitt;
